

HEADING OUT: ©BRETT J. SMITH

Conservation

is a state of harmony between men and land.

Aldo Leopold

Known as the father of wildlife management, Aldo Leopold understood that wise use of our land is the key to a healthy environment. Today, we're losing many of our most important wild lands. Wetlands, which are nature's most productive ecosystems, are disappearing at the rate of more than 100,000 acres every year.

MALLARD: ©GARY KRAMER.NET

Ducks Unlimited is the largest and most effective wetlands and waterfowl conservation organization in the world. Since its founding more than 65 years ago, DU has restored more than 10 million acres of wetlands and other critical wildlife habitats across North America.

CALL 800-45-DUCKS OR VISIT DU'S WEBSITE AT WWW.DUCKS.ORG TO SEE HOW YOU CAN HELP.